Barusch Dies After Illness Of 3 Months

Walter Barusch, 50, well known advertising and publicity man, died yesterday morning in the Palo Alto Hospital after an illness of three months. Mr. Barusch, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the assembly from San Mateo County in 1936, established the Walter Barusch Advertising Agency in San Francisco in 1927.

He was a former reporter on The Oakland Examiner, The Oakland Enquirer, The Post-Enquirer and was assistant city editor and telegraph make-up editor on The San Francisco News.

In 1936 he achieved prominence when he ran on the Democratic ticket for asesmblyman, but was defeated by Harrison Call. He conducted his campaign strictly along party lines, running as a Roosevelt Democrat and stressing the need for the same principles of social legislation in the state legislature as has marked the Democratic national administration in Washington.

Mr. Barusch was a resident of Menlo Park, having lived at 1317 Crane St. since 1941. Prior to that he had lived in Redwood City since 1929.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Dolores Blair Barusch; a daughter, Beverly Blair arusch; a granddaughter, Vvonne Freeman, and three brothers, Harry, Sollie and Lt. Leo Barusch, USNR.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Layng and Tinney Funeral Home. Interment will be in the Home of Peace at Colma.

The War Food Administration has raised 1944's milk production goal a billior quarts over the 1943 total.

Court-Martial Judges Soldier Sane, Rules He Murdered H.F. Rose

DIBBLE GENERAL HOSPITAL, Menlo Park—A life in federal prison at hard labor was the sentence meted out to PFC Andrew J. Ellis, 22, by an eight-man court-martial Saturday night after a four-day trial for the murder of Hugh F. Rose, 31-year-old Redwood City chain grocery store manager, who was found in his Burlingame apartment on Nov. 16 fatally wounded from 14 stab wounds.

Three-fourths of the members of the court-martial found that Ellis was not mentally incompetent, that he had the ability to distinguish right from wrong, and that he was guilty of the murder of Rose. Three-fourths of the members found him guilty of larceny for stealing Rose's wallet containing almost $100.

Ellis was found not guilty, however, of passing three worthless checks totaling $73 on Burlingame merchants with the signature of S/Sgt. John H. Rose. The court-martial ruled that Ellis was dishonorably discharged from the army.

The sentence automatically will be reviewed by the commanding officer at Fort Ord and the judge advocate general at Washington, D. C. Maj. Douglas Moore of the defense counsel said briefs would be submitted in support of the review.

A unanimous decision of the court-martial would have been necessary for a death sentence. Ellis probably will be confined at either Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary in Kansas or at McNeil Island in the state of Washington, Capt. Roy H. Steele, law member of the court-martial body, said.

The case went to the court-martial at 4:30 p.m. Saturday and Lt. Col. William B. Wartman, president of the court-martial, announced the findings at 6:45 p.m.

Ellis, who displayed no remorsefulness at any time during the trial, winced when the verdict was given. He was turned over to the officer of the day and marched from the small courtroom to the guardhouse by military policemen who had guarded him during the four-day session.

First Lt. Robert R. Hawfield, trial judge advocate, contended in his closing argument, as he did in his opening arguments, that Ellis had two motives for the killing, (1) that he was carrying on a clandestine love affair with Rose's wife, Jeanette, and (2) that he was in need of money.

Lieutenant Hawfield theorized that at about 1:45 a.m. Nov. 16 Rose caught Ellis in the act of taking his wallet from his (Rose's) pocket and that a struggle ensued. Ellis had contended that he did the stabbing in self defense.

Major Moore contended in his closing argument the verdict should be justifiable homicide, or that it it should be found that the killing was not more than manslaughter.

The court-martial first cast secret ballots in closed session on the guilt or innocence of Ellis, and then, upon finding him guilty of murder and larceny, cast secret ballots on the sentence.

Two army officers, Maj. Clarence H. Godard and Maj. Bernard L. Diamond, testified Saturday afternoon that Ellis was mentally sane and that he could distinguish right from wrong. Earlier in the day, Dr. Joseph Catton nationally-known psychiatrist, testified that Ellis was a victim of mental defect, disease and derangement and that they interfered with his ability to tell right from wrong.

Ellis did not take the stand, but he submitted through his counsel an unsworn statement and a written statement about his background and about events which immediately preceded the stabbing.

He declared in his statement that his father was a drunkard and that his mother died when he was nine years old. He said that he felt other children looked down upon him.

Ellis volunteered for army service July 16, 1941, and went overseas in 1943, arriving in England in August. He suffered a broken leg on May 11, 1944, when the motorcycle he was riding as a military policeman, and a truck collided.

He was returned to the United States to convalesce, and was sent to Dibble Hospital at his request, so he could be close to the home of a friend, whom he referred to as "Mom" and who at that time lived in Menlo Park.

Ellis said he met Mr. and Mrs. Rose in a bar about two months before the stabbing and admitted going out with Mrs. Rose three or four and perhaps five times.

He declared, however, that: "I have never been in love with Mrs. Rose and I don't think she ever considered me more than a friend."

He admitted stabbing Rose "once or twice" and that he took Rose's wallet. He denied passing the worthless checks, however.

Argo Promises Top High School Curriculum

A. C. Argo, superintendent of Sequoia Union High School District, speaking at the Exchange Club meeting Tuesday night pledged the "best curriculum in California" for his institution.

Picturing postwar education of a rapidly-growing district, Argo predicted an ultimate enrollment of 3000 at Redwood City, with branch high schools in the San Carlos-Belmont area and in the southern part of the district.

Based on estimates of the San Mateo County Planning Commission, population forecasts indicate a population of 130,000 in the area south of Redwood City, Argo said. This means a high school population of 3000 and need for two branch schools.

Argo promised a continued policy of strong basic training in fundamentals, plus a wide selection of elective subjects. In the postwar era he predicted a return of pre-apprentice shop training, additional auto mechanics training, a wider variety in language study, more art, music and home-making courses, and expansion of the adult evening schools to care for needs of war veterans.

At the present time, he said, the school needs additional class rooms, gymnasium dressing rooms, additional shops and changes in the main building.

The high school superintendent was introduced by Dr. Rollo LaBerge.

Don't Need Water

In the desert country, many animals never drink water. Their need for moisture is supplied by chemical action in their digestive tracts, which turns most of their starchy foods into water.

"FORTY-FIVE MILLION VOTES FOR DEMOCRACY"

Such is the headline on an editorial in Johns-Manville NEWS PICTORIAL, the semi-monthly publication which J-M gets out for its employees—about its employees.

The rest of the world was amazed that a nation so evidently unified in its tremendous war effort could stop and disagree on politics and slug it out in a vigorous two-party campaign—and then shake hands.

Says NEWS PICTORIAL: "There is a simple explanation for the strength of the American brand of democracy. It is because our government is the servant, not the master, of the people. It is because every one of us cherishes and exercises his independence of thought and action in choosing the government which will serve him."

ON THE WHOLE, WE GET ALONG

People in other lands might imagine, too, that there is continuous scrapping between American management and labor. But here again, we have our temporary arguments and scuffles, and then shake hands and pull together.

The fundamental stability which this relationship between American management and the American employee brings about is seen in such things as the J-M Quarter Century Club—an organization of over 600 J-M employees who have been with the company 25 years or more.

PICTURE OF AMERICA

This little clothes-wringer cartoon is almost symbolic of the "American way." It represents the beginning of Johns-Manville 87 years ago, when H. W. Johns and his helper started to make roofing with an oil stove, a tea kettle, and a clothes wringer (to press the roofing). All Mr. Johns had was an idea, a lot of guts, and a soul full of the spirit of American "free enterprise." Today, the company he thus started has about 14,000 employees. Mr. Johns didn't know it, but he was making some 14,000 jobs with his clothes wringer. This is America—the America we want—don't you think so?

Maybe YOU will start a business some day with a clothes wringer or a bicycle pump or a buzz saw or a hammer and saw, or even a needle and thread.

PERSONAL "POST-WAR PLANNING"

There is a lot of talk about post-war planning by government and industries. But individuals, too, can make post-war plans, and many smart workers figger it this way: they'll do their present jobs so well that they'll make themselves indispensable. The man whose job can't get along without him is a man with fewer post-war worries.

HENRY W. EDMONDS

Poole Ends 18 Years Service As S.M. County Supervisor

Ending 18 years of service as a member of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, John W. Poole of Redwood City today attended his last meeting as supervisor from the third township.

Supervisor Poole will be replaced on the board by Col. Henry Edmonds who was elected to the post in the November election. Poole declined to be a candidate for re-election in an announcement last February, stating that the press of other business caused him to foresake political life.

He was appointed Mar. 31, 1927, by Gov. C. C. Young to fill the term of the late John McBain of Menlo Park, and during the unexpired term, served as chairman of the board. Poole was elected to the office in 1928 and has been re-elected to the post of supervisor for four 4-year terms since then.

At Tuesday morning's meeting, a a move to combine city and county efforts for ambulance service in the northern part of the county was made with the appointment of Supervisor Thomas Hickey to consult authorities.

Supervisor Hickey will confer with city officials and later report to the board on the possibilities of establishing ambulance service under a city-county co-operative plan.

Letters from Daly City, South San Francisco and San Bruno city officials requesting additional ambulance service in the northern part of the county were read to the board.

A report from a committee of Pescadero and Half Moon Bay residents named to select sites for a war memorial on the Coastside recommended that individual memorials be erected at Half Moon Bay and Pescadero.

At the request of Chmn. Fred E. Beer, the committee, headed by William D. Smith, will be asked to name only one site.

MONTGOMERY WARD'S ANSWER TO THE ORDER OF SEIZURE BY THE PRESIDENT

The order of the President to effect the seizure of the property and business of Montgomery Ward is a violation of the Constitution of the United States, which the President has sworn to uphold and defend. The Congress, which is the sole law-making authority under the Constitution, has given the President no power to seize the non-war business of Montgomery Ward.

The purpose of the President's order is to enforce, by an exercise of arbitrary power, orders of the War Labor Board which the courts have declared to be merely advisory and legally unenforceable. The courts have held that anyone who refuses to comply with orders of the War Labor Board is not defying a command of the Government and that, since the orders are merely advisory, no Government official has the right to impose punishments on those who do not comply.

The President's order does not arise from any failure on Ward's part to pay fair wage rates. Ward's policy is, and has been, to pay wages as high as or higher than those paid by other employers in the community for similar employment. Ward's only objection to any of the War Labor Board's wage recommendations has been in those instances where the board has arbitrarily demanded that Ward's substantially increase its rates above those of its competitors in the highly competitive retail field. The President has ordered the Army to restrict the liberties of Ward's employees by imposing upon them the closed shop in the form of union maintenance. This is the final step in the coercion used by the administrative agencies of the Government to force the closed shop upon employers and employees throughout the nation. Ward's has long believed that when the public awakens to the extent of this coercion, it will rise in indignation.

Ward's defense of the freedom of its employees has not been prompted by any feeling of anti-unionism. All employees at Ward's are free to join or not to join a union, as they wish. Ward's fully recognizes this privilege and has assured all employees that their opportunity with the company will be same whether they are union members or not.

Ward's cannot in good citizenship accept or obey the commands of those who have no legal power to give them and who are seeking to deprive Ward's of its constitutional rights and liberties. Ward's takes this position in defense of the constitutional rights and liberties of every citizen of the United States.

The issues are now before the courts, where Ward's has sought for two years to have them decided. Ward's welcomes the opportunity to present its case to the courts.

Council Receives 3-Page Letter Charging 'Attack'

Terming recent Redwood City Council action as an "attack" and "painful surprise," Henry Witte, chairman of the Redwood City Planning Commission for the past 18 years, Tuesday submitted his resignation as a member of the commission, and declared that he would no longer write any insurance policy or bond for the city.

In a three-page letter submitted to the council, Witte indicated his decision to sever all ties with the city in answer to a ruling, made at the request of the council at the Dec. 18 meeting, which held that the concurrent holding of positions of planning commissioner and city insurance broker was in violation of Section 77 of the city charter.

Witte, declaring that he was well aware of the provision, having been a member of the Board of Freeholders when the charter was adopted in 1929, pointed out to the council that he had been assured by the late Albert Mansfield, city attorney, that no provisions of the charter were being violated in that planning commissioners serve without compensation and in an advisory capacity.

It was at the Dec. 4 meeting of the council when Councilman Floyd Granger raised the question that led to a ruling by City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy.

Indicating their unwillingness to accept Witte's resignation as both planning commissioner and insurance broker, councilmen voted unanimously for the appointment of a committee to confer with Witte, placing the matter on the agenda.

Appointed by Mayor W. W. Hilton were Councilmen Harold Anderson, E. A. Fletcher, and Granger.

Following the reading of the letter in which Witte also offered his resignation as a member of the Traffic Safety Study Committee and of the Bay Area Regional Development Council, a lengthy silence was broken by Councilman Fletcher, who declared he regretted the council's action.

"I feel very badly about the whole situation," Fletcher added, later saying he thought the council handled the situation "roughly."

"This is not a matter of personalities; we are merely living up to the charter," Mayor Hilton commented.

Witte was not present at the meeting.

County Shows Higher Taxes, Valuation

New Year's roundup of facts about San Mateo County government shows the county tax rate for general purposes at $1.1485 for 1944-45, compared with $1.07 per $100 of assessed value for 1943-44; assessed value of taxable property in the county of $140,759,075 for 1944-45, compared with $136,889,109 for last year; per capita valuation of $843 for this year, compared with $913 for 1943-44, and 167,000 people estimated in the county Jan. 1, 1945, compared with 150,000 on Jan. 1, 1944. These data, summarized by California Taxpayers' Association, are for the county alone. Data for the cities, and the school and other districts in the county are not included.

County and other local governments in California are, on the whole, in good financial shape at the beginning of 1945, the taxpayers' organization said.

The state government, with a general fund cash excess which is expected to reach $60,000,000 by June 30, 1945, and with $239,908,000 already set aside for postwar construction and other obligations, is also in fine financial condition to face the postwar period.

"Comment on the state," the association said, "is made advisedly, for action by the 1945 legislative session, which opens Jan. 8, could 'upset the apple cart.' Passage of legislation radically increasing the demands on the state treasury could guarantee either new and increased state taxes or the state treasury in the red in the postwar period."

Boy Hit by Train, Hurt Only Slightly

"The luck of an Irishman" was with 10-year-old Patrick Duffy, Redwood City boy who ran into the side of a freight train engine at the Broadway crossing Saturday afternoon at 4:35 o'clock.

Patrick, who received only minor injuries when he was thrown clear of the train, had stopped at the crossing with his brother while a southbound train passed by and started up on their bicycles when the northbound freight appeared, Redwood City police said.

One of the youths was able to cross the tracks in time, but Patrick's bicycle collided with the locomotive, and he was thrown away from the tracks onto the pavement.

No Action Taken In Howard Case

The Supreme Court refused to take action this week in a case brought by a firm of attorneys trying to secure payment of a $25,000 legal fee for representing Robert S. Howard and Lindsay C. Howard in an estate litigation.

The Howards were executors of the estate of their mother, Mrs. Fannie May Herscher. The Redwood City probate court granted the $25,000 fee, but Mrs. Herscher's husband got the order vacated in court here. The attorneys filed a certiorari proceedings which the Supreme Court today dismissed, on the ground it was the wrong procedure. If granted, an order for review would have annulled the San Mateo County court ruling.

The Supreme Court had no censure for the lower court.

Joe Caboose of Commuters Advises: Take Stock in '45

Year's end is an excellent time for inventory and resolution. We should "take stock" collectively and personally, as a nation and as individuals. To see where we are headed . . . and what we should do about it. Our searching should be spiritual and moral as well as material. And our resolutions, even those toward material ends, to be fruitful, should have strong spiritual and moral prompting.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps if we had resolved a little more resolutely at the beginning of 1944, to work a little harder, to produce more, to sacrifice more, the war in Europe today would be over. At any rate, there can be no truly Happy New Year for anyone anywhere until these terrible wars are over. To that end, let us all resolve, work and pray that this year—1945—may be the year of Victory!

★ ★ ★

The board of directors' meeting which normally is held on the first Tuesday of the month was set back a week to Jan. 9, it was announced by Pres. Stan Perkins. Stan didn't elaborate as to reasons, but maybe he feels some of the boys won't be in condition that soon after New Years. The regular dinner meeting, however, will be held on the scheduled date—Thursday, Jan. 11, at the Woman's Club. House Chmn. Jack Welch and "Speaker's Bureau" McClellan promise an interesting meeting.

★ ★ ★

We knew no good would come of it when we let Bill Curran, on our first Saturday off for weeks, lure us into going to an afternoon picture show with him. We walked out on our garden chores and sat for two hours amid a howling mob of kids while Wally Beery did his stuff. Next day we learned Bill had lost his wallet. Last time he remembered having it was when he bought his ticket. Presumably it worked out of his hip pocket while sitting in the theater. We sure hope he finds it. We sat right beside him in the darkened theater and he's been asking us some mighty pointed questions. But we haven't picked any pockets in years!

★ ★ ★

Our councilman commuter, Chester Armstrong, is still in Palo Alto Hospital undergoing various tests and a thorough physical checkup. Chester hasn't been feeling well and thought the year's end was an appropriate time to go into "drydock" for repairs. More of us would be better off if we took the same precaution. Incidentally, we saw Ed Horgan Sunday and he looks like the proverbial million dollars. Ed had been laid up quite a spell.

★ ★ ★

We saw the Perkins and Conroy families all working like beavers cleaning up the old Redwood Pastry Shop on Broadway. We knew that many people needed a little extra money over the holidays, but found it hard to believe the Perkins-Conroy clan were so hard up they would hire out to wash windows. Upon inquiry we learned that Bert and his charming sister-in-law, Mrs. Impie Saari, better known as "Princess Pat," are taking over the Redwood Bakery and will be open for business in a day or two. Good luck to you both!

★ ★ ★

So . . . May the New Year bring us the thing we cherish most . . . peace, lasting peace! It will then truly be . . . Happy New Year to all!

The U. S. Marine Corps band became known as the "President's Own" when President John Adams set a precedent and ordered its appearance at all official functions.

SAFEWAY

Vary your meals in '45

The difference between an ordinary everyday meal and one that's deliciously appetizing is often a simple idea. So plan to watch Safeway ads in '45—they offer ideas and recipes for variety in meals that make them tempting and exciting.

Guaranteed Meat

Yes—every cut of Safeway meat is backed by an absolute Money-Back Guarantee! Although, at present, meats of all varieties are in somewhat shorter supply than usual, Safeway will continue to offer you the best quality meats in the greatest quantity obtainable from Suppliers. Why don't you plan to make it a regular habit to buy all your meat requirements from Safeway.

A Lot To Do About Ground Meat

There's a difference in the pan-frying and broiling times for the various kinds of ground meat. Beef and veal require the same cooking time but lamb and pork take a bit longer. When two or more kinds of ground meat are mixed together, the time is gauged by the kind of meat in the largest proportion. However, when there's fresh pork in the combination it's advisable to follow the timing given, for pork must be cooked thoroughly.

GROUND BEEF AND VEAL

Because of their leanness, ground beef and veal are benefited by the addition of fat or liquid, such as suet, eggs, or evaporated milk. Eggs and evaporated milk also act as binders to help hold the ground beef and veal together after they're cooked.

Tests show the best results are obtained by using 2 eggs or 4 tablespoons of evaporated milk or 4 tablespoons of suet for each pound of ground beef or veal. ¼ pound beef or veal pattie, broiled or pan-fried, should be cooked about 10 minutes—5 minutes on each side.

GROUND LAMB

It isn't necessary to add any binding ingredients to ground lamb for it holds its shape when cooked. However, the addition of a little chopped bacon contributes a delectable flavor and adds the fat that is needed.

For patties and mock cutlets and chops of average thickness that are to be pan-fried or broiled, it is best to allow about 30 minutes—15 minutes for each side.

GROUND FRESH PORK

Ground pork is often confused with fresh pork sausage. The difference lies in the fact that sausage contains spices and seasonings while ground fresh pork does not.

A binding ingredient or extra fat is not required for ground pork because it is tender and juicy enough without any additions.

It takes at least 20 minutes for pan-frying or broiling of fresh pork patties of average thickness and it is important that they be well done throughout.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

CREAMED GROUND MEAT: Saute 1 lb. ground meat, ½ cup finely diced onion, in 2 tablespoons shortening until meat and onion are browned. Break meat apart as it cooks. Blend in 4 tablespoons of flour, season to taste. Gradually add 3 cups milk, stirring constantly. Cook until thick. Serve on toast cubes, in pastry cases, in noodle ring or over steamed rice. Serves 6.
